

MP - County Antrim, Northern Ireland - April 2009

Originally, I was looking to invest in a beach-front apartment in Bulgaria and had spoken to quite a few other investors and done some research on the Internet. One of the people I spoke to was my father's financial advisor; he told me that, while on a trip to Bulgaria, he met with one of Paul's clients who had already purchased a property in Bulgaria through him.

He gave me Paul's number and we got talking; he advised me that a house with land was a better investment than diving into a market flooded with seaside apartments. I thought his advice made sense and arranged a trip over to meet up with him in Bulgaria. In April 2006, I bought a nice family house on a really good plot of land in a lovely village not too far from Varna and the Airport. Subsequently, Paul helped me get outline planning permission to build two further houses on the 2,200 square metre plot. Looking back now, not only am I glad that I did not buy a seaside apartment, I am happy that this was a very good investment.

Following my purchase, even though I have not done anything more with the property except ensure that everything is kept up to date, Paul has kept me regularly informed about general developments in Bulgaria the Bulgarian Property Market in particular.

I've been very pleased with the service and advice that Paul has given me both then and since and have recommended him to other clients from Northern Ireland who have saved money and been very happy with his services.
